

Playing creates a quiet atmosphere in the waiting room

“Children can get bored easily especially when they have to wait. So give them the opportunity to play ensuring a more relaxed environment for all.”

The power of playing

This is what we hear from our clients all over the world, every single day. Our play concepts are accessible, educational, and most of all, great fun. You can choose between single modules, (interactive) games, extensive play-grounds, and everything in between. This is how you create a quiet, relaxed waiting time which pays off in shorter consultations, a higher patient satisfaction, and children who are less stressed.

Safety is our number one priority

Especially when dealing with playing children. That is why we produce all products in our factory so we can guarantee the safety of our products at all times. All our products are also SGS certified according to the EN-71 standard, which means that they are guaranteed to be safe and durable. Furthermore, during the design and production process, hygiene is one of our focal points: our products are always easy to clean.
