The business effect of a playcorner

Calm

Patients and caregivers can only truly settle when children are occupied safely and happily. A dedicated play corner reduces stress and noise in the waiting area, creating a calmer atmosphere for everyone, including staff.

Flow

Waiting times can be challenging, especially for families. A play corner helps children stay engaged, which means fewer disruptions, fewer distressed moments, and a smoother waiting-room flow. That makes the overall experience more manageable.

Trust

A positive waiting-room experience builds confidence. When children feel comfortable and caregivers feel supported, the visit starts on a better note reducing anxiety and improving cooperation. It's a small detail that strengthens trust in your care environment.

Professional

A well-designed play corner signals that you've thought about the full patient journey. It supports a welcoming, child-friendly image while fitting a clinical setting through durable, easy-to-clean materials and a safe, orderly design.

Experiences that speak for themselves

"Our doctors see every day that children are more relaxed when they enter the consultation room, which makes making appointments easier."

Maasstad hospital Rotterdam
Facility manager

"There is a relaxed atmosphere; parents enjoy a cup of coffee while the children are playing in the play corner. This makes waiting less unpleasant."

Zuyderland hospital Maasstricht
Oncoloy sector

"De meerwaarde van IKC zit niet alleen in het product, maar vooral in de begeleiding. Onze contactpersoon dacht actief mee over inrichting, doelgroep en praktische randvoorwaarden.

Jolanda
Antonius Ziekenhuis Sneek

"During busy weekends, the play corner truly makes a difference. Children have something to focus on, which helps keep the atmosphere in the waiting room calmer. Clock Around is without a doubt the favourite."
